A town with a delicious and burgeoning culinary culture since ancient times Gourmet food stroll in the Hakata/Kawabata area The Hakata/Kawabata area, which street where 10,000 people pass

The Hakata/Kawabata area, which has long flourished as a merchant town, is a popular gourmet town with countless restaurants and stores to satisfy anyone's appetite. The area is home to the historic Kawabata Shopping Arcade, as well as the landmark Canal City Hakata and Hakata Riverain Mall, both of which are hubs for the latest trends, making this a one-of-a-kind area that combines both tradition and new culture. Kawabata Shopping Arcade, located between Canal City Hakata and Hakata Riverain Mall, is a lively street where 10,000 people pass through every day, attracting not only locals but also many tourists in search of local specialties that can only be enjoyed here. In addition to Hakata's iconic foods, such as motsu-nabe, mizutaki, ramen, and udon, each restaurant offers a wide variety of exquisite gourmet dishes that make the most of their special characteristics! Please enjoy this

Kawabata Zenzai Square

▲Tenjin

Zenzai is a traditional Japanese dessert made from red beans. Kawabata Zenzai was a popular local dish for much of the 20th century. The store serving this dish subsequently closed down, but the shopping arcade took the initiative to reopen it. In addition to regular zenzai, you can also enjoy zenzai served with ice in summer! Many festival-related items are on display, including a huge decorative Yamakasa float.

became famous during the Meiji period (1868-1912) for his satirical comic stories and plays, especially his song Oppekepe Bushi. Having established a new kind of theater called shosei shibai, he laid the foundations for new schools of drama. Later, he and his wife Sada Yacco led a troupe that toured throughout Europe to great acclaim. He can be considered a pioneer in the modernization of Japanese theater.

Ramen Stadium

Ramen Stadium has been in business for 22 years as a food theme park where famous ramen restaurants gather under one roof. The current lineup includes five local tonkotsu (pork bone) based ramen restaurants, a staple of Fukuoka's cuisine, as well as a long-established Sapporo ramen restaurant and a newly popular tomato ramen restaurant. The restaurants compete with each other to offer the best of their own specialties, making it the ultimate ramen spot in Fukuoka.
